

Supporting Women with Business Communication Tools

Published 9/30/2022 by Angela Jacewicz

Seneca HELIX's HERizons program is helping to dismantle gender barriers in the workplace by providing free career support and training specifically developed for women. Along with a math course, the program will offer a free workplace communication course. This English course will cover effective writing techniques to write reports, emails and resumés. Participants will also learn how to improve verbal communication skills for presentations, negotiations and more.

In addition, participants will get access to the InStage Virtual Reality Platform which will let them practice English speaking skills through virtual reality simulations, so they can practice in the comfort of their own home and see their progress on avoiding filter words, minding the number of pauses they have while speaking and much more.

Students can register now for an online assessment on Wednesday, October 5, 2022 to see if they are eligible for this free program:
