

Generating Journals

Published 5/13/2024 by Dani Bobak

The AI Design Assistant can generate journal prompts based on your course's title and description.

Generating Journals

1. Select the plus icon (+) on the course content page.

2. Select Create from the drop-down. The Create Item panel is displayed.

3. Select Journal. The New Journal panel is displayed.

4. Select the stars icon to Auto-Generate Journal. (It might look like this  or this  .)

5. By default, the AI Design Assistant will use your course's title and description to generate journal prompts. You can choose from those generated journal prompts or you can add more information in the Define the journal pane:

a. Add a description

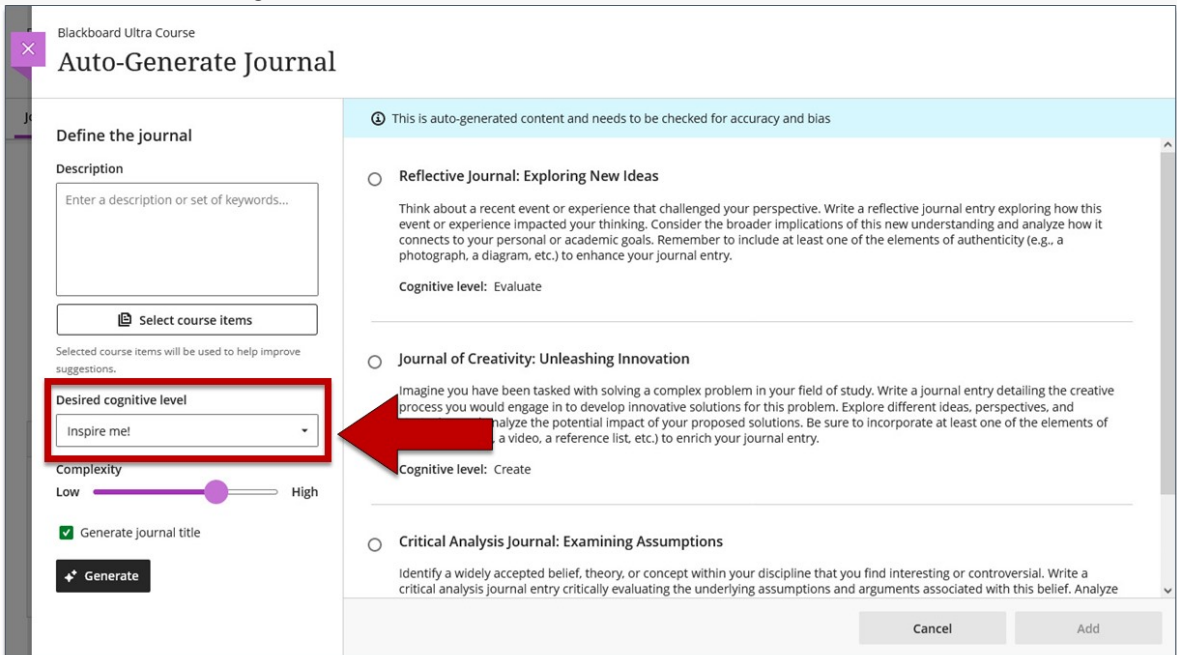

b. Select items from your course

c. Choose a desired cognitive level

d. Adjust the complexity

Define the journal

- Reflective Journal: Exploring New Ideas
Think about a recent event or experience that challenged your perspective. Write a reflective journal entry exploring how this event or experience impacted your thinking. Consider the broader implications of this new understanding and analyze how it connects to your personal or academic goals. Remember to include at least one of the elements of authenticity (e.g., a photograph, a diagram, etc.) to enhance your journal entry.
Cognitive level: Evaluate
- Journal of Creativity: Unleashing Innovation
Imagine you have been tasked with solving a complex problem in your field of study. Write a journal entry detailing the creative process you would engage in to develop innovative solutions for this problem. Explore different ideas, perspectives, and strategies, and analyze the potential impact of your proposed solutions. Be sure to incorporate at least one of the elements of authenticity (e.g., a video, a reference list, etc.) to enrich your journal entry.
Cognitive level: Create
- Critical Analysis Journal: Examining Assumptions
Identify a widely accepted belief, theory, or concept within your discipline that you find interesting or controversial. Write a critical analysis journal entry critically evaluating the underlying assumptions and arguments associated with this belief. Analyze

Tip: Even if you don't add any more information in the Define the journal pane, you can select Generate to run the journal prompt generation process again to generate a different set of journal prompts.

6. If there is a journal prompt you would like to add to your course, select the radio button next to the desired journal, then select Add.

7. Review the title and content of that generated journal prompt and edit for accuracy and appropriateness, making all necessary edits before making it available to students.

8. Select Save to save the changes to your journal prompt.

9. Be sure to set up the necessary Journal Settings before making the Journal available to your students. See the Creating a Journal article for more information about Journal Settings.
