

Professor Melissa Warner Presents Research on Student Group Work

Published 8/29/2024 by Joelle Allen

On August 28, Melissa Warner, professor in the School of Human Resources and Global Business, presented research on Student Group Work, Is Student Groupwork Achieving the Goals We Intend? Using Appreciative Inquiry to Enhance Student Groupwork Effectiveness. Professor Warner and her research team, interviewed 50 students with the focus on "maximizing learning and minimizing challenges with student group work in a college environment." The full presentation and Faculty Toolkit for Student Group Work are included for your use.

tags : @senecabusiness, seneca-business, seneca-business-news