Academic Quality invites all faculty interested in conducting research in teaching and learning to apply for funding with the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) at Seneca program.

SoTL is a field of research designed to bring teaching and learning together. The aim of the program is to provide faculty with an opportunity to study their teaching practice enabling them to better meet the learning needs of their students.

Seneca will support up to four SoTL projects to begin in the Fall 2026 academic year. Proposals are due Monday, Mar. 30.

To learn more, please join us at the SoTL Info Session to be held virtually on Wednesday, Mar. 4, 10 to 11 a.m.
