Help Build the Student Projects Collection

Published  3/27/2019 by  Ashley Ribbel

by Seneca Libraries

in the March 2019 issue

Seneca Libraries invites faculty to submit exemplary student projects to the library for inclusion in our digital repository. Contributing to the Student Projects Collection is an opportunity to showcase the academic achievements of students in your program and to inspire future generations of students.

Our Student Projects Collection currently features 211 projects from across several disciplines, including:

- Aviation (FPR)
- Child Development (BCD)
- Creative Advertising (CAB)
- English and Liberal Studies (SELS)
- Environmental Site Remediation (ESR)
- Human Resources (HST)
- Informatics and Security (IFS)
- Visual Merchandising Arts Diploma (VMA)

We welcome contributions from all faculty members. To submit a project, please follow these steps:

1. Identify an exemplary project from your course.
2. Download a copy of our consent form and have your student(s) sign it.
3. Email consent form and a digital copy of the project to librarians@senecacollege.ca.

We look forward to receiving your submissions.

View the March 2019 issue of the Academic Newsletter.

March 2019 issue

tags : march-2019, seneca-libraries