in the September 2019 issue

Seneca International and the International Mobility Office are currently working to engage staff for participation in the College's wide range of international activities. Opportunities to participate in overseas training and development projects, faculty or administrative exchange, curriculum mapping and quality assurance, guest lecturing at partner institutions, or leading a Faculty-led Program Abroad will be featured in upcoming editions of SeneNews, as well as posted on My.Seneca. Interested employees will then be able to apply for specific opportunities through this open call process and contribute to the expansion and strengthening of our international partnerships.
