Seneca Libraries is here to support you during these unique times. We have received many important questions from faculty over the past several weeks covering a wide range of subjects. We want to share your questions and our answers with as many faculty members as possible through a series of Q&A drop-in sessions customized for each faculty area. Please join us!

Some questions we have answered leading up to the summer semester include:

- What library resources and supports are available virtually?
- How do I access the library's online resources?
- How can I find relevant and engaging content for my course?
- How do I request a resource purchase for my course or program?
- What citation support is offered to my students this summer?
- Can I include library tutorials in My.Seneca?

Each Q&A session will be hosted by your liaison librarians. In addition to fielding your questions about library support for your online classes, we will provide a brief overview of the key areas of library support, including:

- Library resources (e.g., videos, images, eBooks, case studies, articles, and more)
- Digital and research assignment support (e.g., workshops, tutorials, cartridges, research appointments)
- Citation and plagiarism help (via online citation style guides, workshops, modules, virtual chat)
- Copyright (e.g., policy, guide, modules)

We are looking forward to answering your questions. Please visit the Information for Faculty guide for scheduled times and links for the drop-in online sessions.
