ARt for Change: Giving students the power to change their world through augmented reality
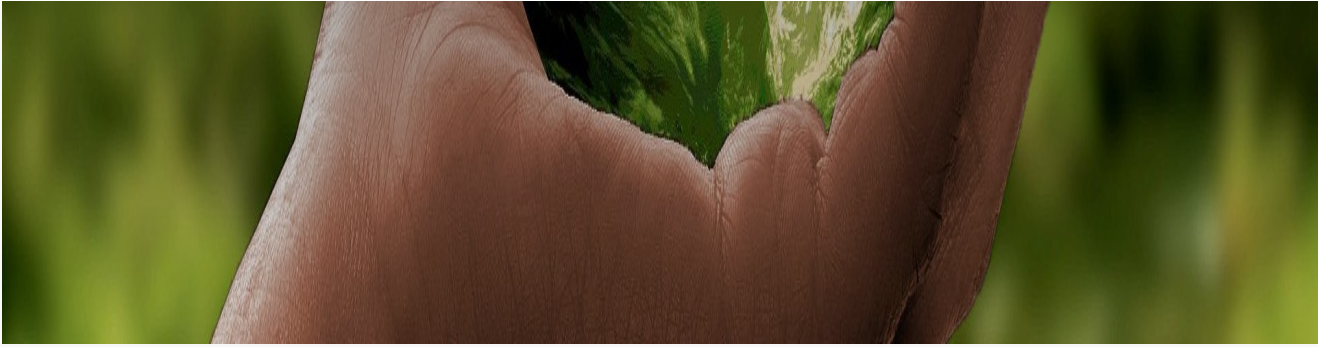

Published 12/3/2020 by Ashley Ribbel

in the December 2020 issue

This winter, Seneca is inviting all students to create augmented reality artwork to raise awareness of equity, diversity and inclusion, and sustainability at Seneca. This exciting opportunity gives students a chance to have their work showcased across Seneca and win great prizes, including the chance to apply for an Adobe Creative Residency Community Fund grant.

Help us promote the ARt for Change project to your students. Contest closes March 29, 2021.

View the December 2020 issue of the Academic Newsletter.

December 2020 issue

tags : announcements-congratulations, educational-technology, educational-technology-tools, the-teaching-and-learning-centre